NEWS RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
July 23, 2018

PacifiCorp receives additional state approvals, will move forward with major wind and transmission expansion plan

Energy Vision 2020 will add 1,150 MW of new wind energy, repower 900 MW of existing wind resources and add 140 miles of new transmission

PORTLAND, Ore, July 23, 2018 – PacifiCorp is proceeding with plans to significantly expand its wind energy production after receiving the final two state approvals needed to move forward with the company's Energy Vision 2020 initiative.

A favorable order from the Idaho Public Utilities Commission on July 20 followed approval from the Utah Public Service Commission on June 22. Wyoming, the third state in PacifiCorp's six-state service territory that provides for regulatory review ahead of major capital investments, issued its conditional Certificates of Public Convenience and Necessity on April 12, 2018. In addition, Oregon and Washington have signaled support for the Energy Vision 2020 initiative as part of PacifiCorp's 2017 Integrated Resource Plan.

PacifiCorp's Energy Vision 2020 project adds three new wind projects in Wyoming that will provide a total 1,150 MW of new wind energy capacity, add a new 140-mile high-voltage transmission line, also in Wyoming, and repower 900 MW of existing wind resources in Wyoming and Washington. The new wind projects will increase the amount of owned and contracted wind capacity on PacifiCorp's system by more than 60 percent and will add enough new wind energy to power more than 400,000 average homes by 2020. The repowering projects will upgrade the company's existing wind fleet with longer blades and newer technology that will boost output by more than 25 percent and extend the life of the wind turbines.

"As this exciting initiative receives these approvals, we look forward to the benefits the projects will bring to all our customers in the form of low-cost renewable energy and a more robust transmission system," said Cindy A. Crane, CEO, Rocky Mountain Power. "These investments will significantly expand the company's Wyoming wind fleet and benefit both state and local economies." Rocky Mountain Power is the division of PacifiCorp serving Idaho, Utah and Wyoming customers.

"We are very pleased to have reached this important regulatory milestone and to move forward with construction of these projects," said Stefan Bird, president and CEO of Pacific Power, the division of PacifiCorp that serves customers in Oregon, Washington, and California. "Our Energy Vision 2020 plan is a win-win that supports our commitment to meet our customers future needs with affordable energy while continuing our transition to a clean energy future."

PacifiCorp estimates its total investment for the Energy Vision 2020 projects will be just over $3 billion, a reduction from the initial $3.5 billion cost estimate when the projects were first announced in April 2017. The lower cost estimate is due to changes in project scope and reduced project costs realized through a competitive procurement process. Completing the projects by 2020 will allow customers to realize the full benefit of production tax credits and provide a net savings for customers over the life of the projects.

Additional approvals, schedule. In addition to the broad regulatory reviews and approvals in Wyoming, Utah and Idaho, the Industrial Siting Division of the Wyoming Department of Environmental Quality took action approving the permit for the TB Flats project on June 22, 2018, which is one of the three new planned wind projects.

Oregon, Washington and California, do not have statutes that allow commissions to provide similar regulatory review prior to construction of major projects. In those states, the full review and prudency determinations will come later when the company seeks permission to recover project costs. Regulatory commissions in all states will continue to monitor and conduct reviews of the Energy Vision 2020 projects.

Pending acquisition of remaining rights of way, receipt of permits, and execution of final contracts, construction on the projects is expected to start in 2019. The majority of the repowering projects are planned to be complete in 2019, with the remainder in 2020. Completion of the new wind and transmission projects also will occur in 2020.

PULLING FOR KIDS

~CELEBRATING 20 YEARS~

Visitation & Advocacy Center for the 6TH Judicial District of Wyoming
Formerly known as CASA
Serving Campbell, Crook and Weston Counties

Mission Statement: We strive to provide a voice and programs for the protection, care and welfare of all children in need

Advocacy

WE ARE A VOICE FOR ABUSED AND NEGLECTED CHILDREN IN COURT

Every year more than half a million abused and neglected children are in need of safe, permanent, nurturing homes; too many spend years moving from one temporary home to another. They have no family to call their own. They are more likely than other children to face homelessness, unemployment and even prison as adults.

Since 1999 the Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) Program has been recruiting, training and supervising volunteers who advocate for children in the 6th Judicial District. The Volunteers goal is to ensure safety and permanency for children whose lives are in turmoil.

As trained advocates, volunteers are appointed by judges to be a voice for these children in court; the result is they are placed into safe, loving homes where they can thrive.

A Volunteer: Who Are They?

- Honest, ethical and supportive
- Responsible and committed
- Able to handle complex emotional issues
- Dedicated to children's rights
- Able to adhere to confidentiality

What Do They Do?

- Attend 30 hours of training
- Visit the children of their case and gather information
- Report findings directly to the courts
- Spend an average of 10 hours per month, at their discretion, on advocacy work
- Work closely with the Department of Family Services, Guardian ad Litem and the juvenile courts

Letter from the Director

As I sit at my desk looking back at the original documents that started it all, I am truly thankful for the foresight and determination of a group of our community members that brought the CASA program to our community and the Visitation and Advocacy Center to fruition.

In 1998 those individuals set out to make a difference in our community for the children that were deemed abused/neglected through the Juvenile court system. These individuals understood that many of the children were getting lost in system, not always receiving the services that they needed or even having the ability to have their voices heard in an already difficult and often traumatic situation.

Throughout the years we have been shown tremendous support not only financially but also through hours of volunteered time. It is humbling to think how much our community has and continues to come together to support the children and families in need. This is a wonderful community that I feel honored to call my home.

In October we will have an official celebration of our "20 years" please keep an eye out for more information and plan to join us.

-Pamela Hyde
Executive Director

Access

SUPERVISED VISITATION AND CUSTODY EXCHANGES

Supervised visitation refers to a contact between a non-custodial parent and one or more children in the presence of a third party. Supervised visitation is almost always court ordered.

Supervised exchange, also referred to as custody transfer or monitored exchanges, is supervision of the transfer of the child from one parent to the other. Supervised exchange can be court ordered or mutually agreed upon by the parents.

THE BEST PARENT IS BOTH PARENTS WHO USES OUR SERVICES?

- Divorcing or non-married parents who need a neutral location to exchange their children
- Parents who are under constraints of a Protection Order and can not be in contact with one another, but need to exchange their children
- Children who are in out of home care who visit their parents
- Professionals who need to interview or observe an interview with a child in a non-threatening environment

KEEPING KIDS AND PARENTS CONNECTED

We believe that every child has the right to a conflict and abuse free relationship with both parents.

We believe that the best parent is both parents, Research shows that children who have access to both parents do better socially, emotionally, and academically than those who grow up without parents.

Working under this belief we strive to provide children with opportunities to sustain healthy relationships with both their parents and any significant adult in their lives. All visitations and exchanges done at our agency are audio and video monitored.

Be the Voice of Hope

We are off to a great start this year! We have several new advocates who are embarking upon their journey to be a voice for our children. In the past 4 months we have had 50 advocates serving 77 children in our community. They have donated a total of 467.50 hours of their time and have driven 3,145.15 miles. We are currently seeking new advocates to join us for our next Advocate Training Class in September.

“Volunteers are not paid because they are worthless, but because they are priceless.”

-Becky Terry

Visitation Center

The Visitation Center is currently providing services for over 500 people. In the past four months we have provided 518 hours of supervised visitation and 308 monitored exchanges. We would also like to welcome Melinda Bracero, Taryn Qualm and Shannon Wasserburger as our new Access Assistants.

-Karen Littleton

THANK YOU TO OUR ADVOCATES OF THE MONTH!!

JANUARY

CHERYL BARTON

Cheryl has been an advocate since 2017. "To be an advocate means being a voice for a child who has no say in a situation they are living in."

FEBRUARY

JUSTINA BRINKERHOFF

Justina has been an advocate since 2016. "To be an advocate means giving the children a voice in a time when they feel they have no say or are forgotten, to show them that someone still cares about them, and to help them go through a very hard time in their lives."

MARCH

BERNADETTE MC COIN

Bernadette has been an advocate since 2016. "To be an advocate means getting to spend time with some special boys and it means giving back to the community as well as a family in need. It warms my heart."

APRIL

MELANIE WEATHERSTONE

Melanie has been an advocate since 2017. "To be an advocate is like being a big sister and friend at the same time to kids and their family. I feel that I could always give more time, and that being an advocate can make all the difference in the world in the life of a child. My hope is that I can make that difference."

MAY

STEPHANIE BACA

Stephanie has been an advocate since 2017. "To be an advocate means being given a gift to potentially help voice or speak for children, that would otherwise not be a priority."

JUNE

STEFANIE CRAWFORD

Stefanie has been an advocate since 2017. "Becoming an Advocate has been cathartic. It means having compassion, a positive and nurturing spirit, and showing genuine support during their time of instability. Having walked in the shoes of your clients brings a perspective that not everyone can relate to."

Thanks!

RAMADA PLAZA GILLETTE
2009 S DOUGLAS HIGHWAY
11:30 A.M. - 1 P.M.

EAT, READ, GROW
SPEAKER: CAROL MEAD
FIRST LADY OF WYOMING

"Children are the foundation. They are the future."

Carol Mead has made children's issues her primary focus during her time as First Lady of Wyoming. She is dedicated to promoting healthy lifestyles among kids to make sure they grow up healthy, happy, and safe.

Mrs. Mead has spent the balance of her time as First Lady focusing on literacy and reading to children throughout the state at their local libraries and schools, encouraging parents and kids to read together at home for at least 20 minutes each day, and working with the University of Wyoming College of Education to establish a statewide literacy research center and clinic, which opened in March 2014.

Carol Mead also authored the children's book "Wyoming Firsts," hiring Wyoming high school artists as part of her Young Artist Showcase.
