

Legend

- |                      |                          |                  |                        |                         |                                     |
|----------------------|--------------------------|------------------|------------------------|-------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| New Participant Pipe | Air/Vac Valve            | New Master Meter | Existing Well Head     | Other Utility Pipelines | Potential Regional Participants     |
| Pipe Encasement      | Altitude Valve           | New Pump Station | Existing Pump Stations | Sanitary Sewer          | Cities and Subdivisions             |
| Pipe Bore            | Blowoff                  | New Storage Tank | Existing Storage Tanks | Storm Drainage          | Gillette City Limits                |
|                      | Chlorine Booster Station |                  | New Madison Parallel   | Overhead Power          | Gillette Current Planning District  |
|                      |                          |                  | Nickelson Farms Line 2 | Overhead Telephone      | Gillette Proposed Planning District |
|                      |                          |                  |                        | Underground Power       | Matchline                           |
|                      |                          |                  |                        | Underground Telephone   |                                     |

NOTE:
This layout map is based on available topographic information and indicates the approximate proposed waterline alignment. Easements, right-of-ways and property ownership have not been investigated along the route. Locations of all utilities, structures, drainage and natural features are only indicated where data was readily available and are approximate. No survey, utility locates, or underground investigation have been conducted. Data provided by USGS, State of Wyoming, Campbell County, City of Gillette, and ESRI.

1 inch = 200 feet

Nickelson Farms Line 1

Sheet 1 of 9

Gillette Regional System Participant Connections

MAY 2010

Legend

- |                             |                                      |                  |                        |                         |                                     |
|-----------------------------|--------------------------------------|------------------|------------------------|-------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| New Participant Pipe        | New Participant Appurtenances | Isolation Valve  | Existing Well Head     | Other Utility Pipelines | Potential Regional Participants     |
| Special Construction | Air/Vac Valve                        | New Master Meter | Existing Pump Stations | Sanitary Sewer          | Cities and Subdivisions             |
| Pipe Encasement             | Altitude Valve                       | New Pump Station | Existing Storage Tanks | Storm Drainage          | Gillette City Limits                |
| Pipe Bore                   | Blowoff                              | New Storage Tank | New Madison Parallel   | Overhead Power          | Gillette Current Planning District  |
|                             | Chlorine Booster Station             |                  | Nickelson Farms Line 2 | Underground Power       | Gillette Proposed Planning District |
|                             |                                      |                  | Underground Telephone  | Underground Telephone   | Matchline                           |

NOTE:
 This layout map is based on available topographic information and indicates the approximate proposed waterline alignment. Easements, right-of-ways and property ownership have not been investigated along the route. Locations of all utilities, structures, drainage and natural features are only indicated where data was readily available and are approximate. No survey, utility locates, or underground investigation have been conducted. Data provided by USGS, State of Wyoming, Campbell County, City of Gillette, and ESRI.

1 inch = 200 feet

Nickelson Farms Line 1

Sheet 2 of 9

Gillette Regional System Participant Connections

MAY 2010

Legend

- |                             |                  |                        |                        |                         |                                     |
|-----------------------------|------------------|------------------------|------------------------|-------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| New Participant Pipe        | Air/Vac Valve    | Isolation Valve        | Existing Well Head     | Other Utility Pipelines | Potential Regional Participants     |
| Special Construction | New Master Meter | New Pump Station       | Existing Pump Stations | Sanitary Sewer          | Cities and Subdivisions             |
| Pipe Encasement             | Altitude Valve   | New Storage Tank       | Existing Storage Tanks | Storm Drainage          | Gillette City Limits                |
| Pipe Bore                   | Blowoff          | Existing Storage Tanks | Existing Storage Tanks | Overhead Power          | Gillette Current Planning District  |
| Chlorine Booster Station    | New Storage Tank | Existing Storage Tanks | Existing Storage Tanks | Underground Power       | Gillette Proposed Planning District |
|                             |                  | New Madison Parallel   | New Madison Parallel   | Overhead Telephone      | Matchline                           |
|                             |                  | Nickelson Farms Line 2 | Nickelson Farms Line 2 | Underground Telephone   |                                     |

NOTE:
 This layout map is based on available topographic information and indicates the approximate proposed waterline alignment. Easements, right-of-ways and property ownership have not been investigated along the route. Locations of all utilities, structures, drainage and natural features are only indicated where data was readily available and are approximate. No survey, utility locates, or underground investigation have been conducted. Data provided by USGS, State of Wyoming, Campbell County, City of Gillette, and ESRI.

1 inch = 200 feet

Legend

- |                             |                                      |                  |                        |                         |                                     |
|-----------------------------|--------------------------------------|------------------|------------------------|-------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| New Participant Pipe        | New Participant Appurtenances | Isolation Valve  | Existing Well Head     | Other Utility Pipelines | Potential Regional Participants     |
| Special Construction | Air/Vac Valve                        | New Master Meter | Existing Pump Stations | Sanitary Sewer          | Cities and Subdivisions             |
| Pipe Encasement             | Altitude Valve                       | New Pump Station | Existing Storage Tanks | Storm Drainage          | Gillette City Limits                |
| Pipe Bore                   | Blowoff                              | New Storage Tank | Matchline              | Overhead Power          | Gillette Current Planning District  |
|                             | Chlorine Booster Station             |                  |                        | Underground Power       | Gillette Proposed Planning District |
|                             |                                      |                  |                        | Overhead Telephone      |                                     |
|                             |                                      |                  |                        | Underground Telephone   |                                     |

NOTE:
 This layout map is based on available topographic information and indicates the approximate proposed waterline alignment. Easements, right-of-ways and property ownership have not been investigated along the route. Locations of all utilities, structures, drainage and natural features are only indicated where data was readily available and are approximate. No survey, utility locates, or underground investigation have been conducted. Data provided by USGS, State of Wyoming, Campbell County, City of Gillette, and ESRI.

1 inch = 200 feet

Legend

- |                             |                                      |                  |                        |                         |                                     |
|-----------------------------|--------------------------------------|------------------|------------------------|-------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| New Participant Pipe        | New Participant Appurtenances | Isolation Valve  | Existing Well Head     | Other Utility Pipelines | Potential Regional Participants     |
| Special Construction | Air/Vac Valve                        | New Master Meter | Existing Pump Stations | Sanitary Sewer          | Cities and Subdivisions             |
| Pipe Encasement             | Altitude Valve                       | New Pump Station | Existing Storage Tanks | Storm Drainage          | Gillette City Limits                |
| Pipe Bore                   | Blowoff                              | New Storage Tank | New Madison Parallel   | Overhead Power          | Gillette Current Planning District  |
|                             | Chlorine Booster Station             |                  | Nickelson Farms Line 2 | Underground Power       | Gillette Proposed Planning District |
|                             |                                      |                  | Undergound Telephone   | Undergound Telephone    | Matchline                           |

NOTE:
This layout map is based on available topographic information and indicates the approximate proposed waterline alignment. Easements, right-of-ways and property ownership have not been investigated along the route. Locations of all utilities, structures, drainage and natural features are only indicated where data was readily available and are approximate. No survey, utility locates, or underground investigation have been conducted. Data provided by USGS, State of Wyoming, Campbell County, City of Gillette, and ESRI.

1 inch = 200 feet

Nickelson Farms Line 1

Sheet 5 of 9

Gillette Regional System Participant Connections

MAY 2010

Legend

- |                             |                                      |                  |                        |                         |                                     |
|-----------------------------|--------------------------------------|------------------|------------------------|-------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| New Participant Pipe        | New Participant Appurtenances | Isolation Valve  | Existing Well Head     | Other Utility Pipelines | Potential Regional Participants     |
| Special Construction | Air/Vac Valve                        | New Master Meter | Existing Pump Stations | Sanitary Sewer          | Gillette City Limits                |
| Pipe Encasement             | Altitude Valve                       | New Pump Station | Existing Storage Tanks | Storm Drainage          | Gillette Current Planning District  |
| Pipe Bore                   | Blowoff                              | New Storage Tank | Existing Storage Tanks | Overhead Power          | Gillette Proposed Planning District |
|                             | Chlorine Booster Station             |                  | New Madison Parallel   | Overhead Telephone      | Matchline                           |
|                             |                                      |                  | Nickelson Farms Line 2 | Underground Power       |                                     |
|                             |                                      |                  |                        | Underground Telephone   |                                     |

NOTE:
This layout map is based on available topographic information and indicates the approximate proposed waterline alignment. Easements, right-of-ways and property ownership have not been investigated along the route. Locations of all utilities, structures, drainage and natural features are only indicated where data was readily available and are approximate. No survey, utility locates, or underground investigation have been conducted. Data provided by USGS, State of Wyoming, Campbell County, City of Gillette, and ESRI.

1 inch = 200 feet

Nickelson Farms Line 1

Sheet 6 of 9

Gillette Regional System Participant Connections

MAY 2010

Legend

- |                             |                                      |                  |                        |                         |                                     |
|-----------------------------|--------------------------------------|------------------|------------------------|-------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| New Participant Pipe        | New Participant Appurtenances | Isolation Valve  | Existing Well Head     | Other Utility Pipelines | Potential Regional Participants     |
| Special Construction | Air/Vac Valve                        | New Master Meter | Existing Pump Stations | Sanitary Sewer          | Cities and Subdivisions             |
| Pipe Encasement             | Altitude Valve                       | New Pump Station | Existing Storage Tanks | Storm Drainage          | Gillette City Limits                |
| Pipe Bore                   | Blowoff                              | New Storage Tank | New Madison Parallel   | Overhead Power          | Gillette Current Planning District  |
|                             | Chlorine Booster Station             |                  | Nickelson Farms Line 2 | Underground Power       | Gillette Proposed Planning District |
|                             |                                      |                  | Underground Telephone  | Matchline               |                                     |

NOTE:
 This layout map is based on available topographic information and indicates the approximate proposed waterline alignment. Easements, right-of-ways and property ownership have not been investigated along the route. Locations of all utilities, structures, drainage and natural features are only indicated where data was readily available and are approximate. No survey, utility locates, or underground investigation have been conducted. Data provided by USGS, State of Wyoming, Campbell County, City of Gillette, and ESRI.

1 inch = 200 feet

Nickelson Farms Line 1

Sheet 7 of 9

Gillette Regional System Participant Connections

MAY 2010

Legend

- |                             |                |                  |                          |                  |                    |                        |                        |                                 |                      |                        |                         |                |                |                |                  |                      |                      |                         |                      |                                     |           |
|-----------------------------|----------------|------------------|--------------------------|------------------|--------------------|------------------------|------------------------|---------------------------------|----------------------|------------------------|-------------------------|----------------|----------------|----------------|------------------|----------------------|----------------------|-------------------------|----------------------|-------------------------------------|-----------|
| New Participant Pipe        | Air/Vac Valve  | New Master Meter | New Pump Station         | New Storage Tank | Existing Well Head | Existing Pump Stations | Existing Storage Tanks | Potential Regional Participants | New Madison Parallel | Nickelson Farms Line 2 | Other Utility Pipelines | Sanitary Sewer | Storm Drainage | Overhead Power | Undergroud Power | Undergroud Telephone | Undergroud Telephone | Cities and Subdivisions | Gillette City Limits | Gillette Proposed Planning District | Matchline |
| Special Construction | Altitude Valve | Blowoff          | Chlorine Booster Station |                  |                    |                        |                        |                                 |                      |                        |                         |                |                |                |                  |                      |                      |                         |                      |                                     |           |

NOTE:
 This layout map is based on available topographic information and indicates the approximate proposed waterline alignment. Easements, right-of-ways and property ownership have not been investigated along the route. Locations of all utilities, structures, drainage and natural features are only indicated where data was readily available and are approximate. No survey, utility locates, or underground investigation have been conducted. Data provided by USGS, State of Wyoming, Campbell County, City of Gillette, and ESRI.

1 inch = 200 feet

